DEATH OF DR. E. E. WHITNER.

It is our melancholy duty to record the sudden and unexpected demise of Dr. E. E. Whitner, whom, a week or so since, we announced as having taken up his residence here, removing from Anderson. He died at the residence of A. Blythe, Esq., on Thursday last, from pulmonary consumption. In his sickness, he was tenderly watched by a loving and affectionate wife and careful mother. His remains were carried to Anderson, there to be interred in the family burying ground. Just a few months since, an elder brother departed this life, then residing in the state of Florida.

The Lawrensville Herald reports the death in that County, of Mr. Wiley Hill, a much respected citizen.

Judge T. J. Mackey is to remove to Chester and has secured a house there. Nearly all of the Chester Bar called on him the other day. So says the Reporter.

Thirty-one Ku Klux prisoners, from Union County, passed through Columbia on the 21st inst., en route for Charleston, where their trials will commence on the first Monday in April.

G. W. Melton, Esq., of Yorkville, bought a controlling interest in the King's Mountain Railroad, and postponed the sale of the road, which was to have occurred on the 20th inst.

The Anderson Intelligencer of the 21st, reports the death of two aged citizens of that county, Capt. Wm. Saunders, aged 87, and Mr. Andrew Todd, aged 68 years.

OBITUARY OF COL. HENRY E. LYNCH.

Died, at his residence, in this County, on the 13th of March 1872, Col. Henry E. Lynch, in the 75th year of his age. The deceased was born in Pittsylvania County, Virginia, but removed to South Carolina in his boy-hood with his father. In 1829 he located at the place 10 miles north of Greenville, which has ever since been known as Traveler's Rest. Few men have commanded, in a higher degree, the respect and esteem of all who knew him, than Col. Lynch; or have more fully illustrated, than did he, throughout his long life, the highest characteristics of an honest man and a good citizen.

CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS' OBITUARIES

Capt. W. G. Fewell

Capt. W. G. Fewell died at his home, near Granbury, Tex., in January, 1910, in his seventy-ninth year. He was shot through the chest at Spottsylvania in May, 1864, and his death was caused by internal bleeding from that old wound. He was born and reared in Pickens District, S. C. He joined Company F, Orr's Rifles, S.C.V., in 1861, and was promoted to captain of his company for gallantry. He was severely wounded four times, but was with that army of gallant, ragged, hungry veterans who surrendered at Appomattox.

John M. Russell

W. A. Campbell, of Columbus, Miss., writes that John M. Russell, who was a member of Company H. Muldrow's Regiment of Mississippi Cavalry, Ferguson's Brigade, died in Columbus on October 14, aged seventy-six years. He was a native of York District, of South Carolina, and was a good soldier of the Confederacy. "I was orderly," says Comrade Campbell, "and could always depend upon him."

Capt. J. B. Allston

Capt. Joseph Blythe Allston died very suddenly while visiting in Anderson, S. C., January 29, 1904. During the Confederate war he was captain of a company in the Twenty-Seventh South Carolina Regiment, and distinguished himself on several occasions. He was captured at the fall of Fort Fisher, kept in prison at Fort Delaware until the close of the war. He was wounded twice--at Drewry's Bluff and at Pocotaligo.

J. A. Pruitt

Mr. Joshua A. Pruitt, a brave Confederate soldier, who served in Company E, Twentieth South Carolina Infantry, died at his home, Anderson, S. C., January 27. He was so severely wounded at Petersburg that he had to be sent home. As soon as he was strong enough he returned to the front and remained til the end of the war. Aged seventy-five years.

J. F. Clardy

Mr. L. F. Clardy, of Anderson, S. C., died January 21, 1904. At the outbreak of the Confederate war he entered Company D, Fourth South Carolina Regiment. He was transferred afterwards to the Eighteenth South Carolina Regiment. His war record was fine. He was in a number of important battles. In the explosion of "The Crater" he was captured and kept in prison until after the close of the war at Fort Delaware and in other Federal prisons. His age was sixty-three years. He did splendid work for the redemption of South Carolina in 1876. He commanded a company of "red shirts" at Dacusville, Pickens County.

He graduated second in his class at the South Carolina College in 1860, and a year later joined the Confederate army as a private in Company D, 1st Regiment South Carolina Volunteers, and at the end of six months was made its adjutant. In November, 1861, he was made chief of staff to Gen. Maxey Gregg, and on his being killed was appointed to the same position first under Gen. Samuel McGowan, then under Gen. Abner Perrin. In 1864 he was made colonel of the 7th South Carolina Cavalry, which command he held til Appomattox, where he was detailed by General Lee to surrender the Confederate cavalry to General Merritt.

SENTIMENT OF A UNION VETERAN

By Private Thayer, Private 51st Indiana Volunteer Infantry.

About a year ago I first saw a copy of the CONFEDERATE VETERAN in our State Library in Indianapolis. I became interested in the magazine and subscribed for it. I now renew. The VETERAN is to be commended for its success in keeping the present generation correctly informed on the causes that precipitated our Civil War, the enduring loyalty of the Confederate armies, and their splendid achievements. It is good too to read of the effective and successful work being done by the Daughters of the Confederacy, as set forth in the VETERAN, to erect throughout the Southland memorials and monuments to perpetuate the fame of their Spartan soldiers.

As surely as "truth crushed to earth shall rise again" will those who record historic truths and who perpetuate the memory of heroes in blocks of stone be classed among such immortals as Jefferson Davis and the great souls who led the armies of the Confederacy to victory on many a stubborn battlefield in defense of the people of the seceding States in the rights that were theirs under the Constitution--rights that would have been denied them had they remained in the Union. Surely it was a cause for which it was a great honor to fight and fail than not to fight at all.

I have been a member of George H. Thomas Post, No. 17, G. A. R., of Indianapolis. It is the most prominent Post in Indiana, having a membership of about three hundred. Benjamin Harrison and many other noted officers of the Union army, now dead, were members. Capt. William A. Ketcham, a member of the Thomas Post, introduced the resolution in the recent national G. A. R. Encampment at Atlantic City to have Lee's statue removed from the Hall of Fame at Washington and the profile of Jefferson Davis removed from the battle ship Mississippi. I rejoice with the people of the South, that the National Encampment had the patriotism to turn down this measure. It confirms that open rebellion is not treason; it is the right of a free people to war against despotism.

I was present when the Ketcham resolution was acted on in the Post, but became disgusted with a class of G. A. R. comrades who persistently schemed to induce the G. A. R. to indorse measures denouncing the people of the South, all this in face of the fact that during the history of our country our government has never once had occasion to inflict the death penalty for treason. During our great Civil War neither the North nor the South developed a traitor in the sense that Benedict Arnold proved himself a traitor. I applied for and received an honorable discharge from the order. I regretted the necessity that moved me to such action, for I have ever entertained a profound regard and affection for my comrades of the Union army. All who receive the baptism of fire in battle are close akin.

I was born seventy-five years ago in Pickensville, Pickens County, S. C., and my mother, Harriet Caroline Osborne, was born and brought up in the same locality, while her mother was born in Virginia. In view of this statement, if I am asked how I happened to serve in the Union army against my native State, I answer: I and two of my brothers believed that the war was to be prosecuted by the Lincoln administration to preserve the Constitution and the Union as bequeathed to posterity by our fathers. Believing this, we volunteered into the Union army and served full terms, and all three were on the firing line in a number of the hardest fought battles. The Union was saved, but the Constitution got so badly disfigured that old Tom Jefferson wouldn't know his own child.

Capt. J. B. Lyle

(Special to the Herald.)

Gaffney, S. C., Aug. 26 - People all over South Carolina will be saddened by the news of the death of Capt. J. B. Lyle, which occurred at Caddo, Okla., on Saturday, August 16, and information of which has just reached Gaffney. Capt. Lyle served throughout the war between the states in Col. Asbury Coward's regiment, and was distinguished for his bravery during that memorable conflict.

An army comrade of his relates that Capt. Lyle performed the seemingly impossible feat of forcing 600 Union soldiers to surrender at the point of an empty gun.

Capt. Lyle was 84 years of age at the time of his death.

He was related to some of the most prominent families in South Carolina in the various counties. His wife, who survives him, was Miss Dora McArthur, of this county, and he is also survived by one daughter, Miss Fannie Lyle, and two sons, Messrs. Joe and Ed.

Directly after the war Capt. Lyle became an instructor in what was then Limestone Female college, and later conducted a private school in Gaffney. In the year 1871 he went to the west, where he made a name which has been honored and loved, and where his memory will be held sacred.

Death notices.

ONE SERVICE IS CONDUCTED FOR MRS. ISABELLA COOPER AND MRS. BETSY PRUITT, OF ARDELLA.

Same Benediction Is Said Over Both

Oak Grove church, one of the oldest in the county, was the scene yesterday of a double funeral which was remarkable in several respects.

Mrs. Isabella Cooper, 86 years old, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Caldwell (wife of the well known "dynamite farmer"), at Ardella, on Wednesday from the effects of old age. Mrs. Cooper was an old resident of that section and highly respected. She was a widow with only one child, but is also survived by two daughters. Mrs. Bradley and by a brother and sister.

Mrs. Betsy Pruitt, 84 years old, a neighbor and friend of Mrs. Cooper passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lee Bradley, at Ardella on Thursday from the effects of old age. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. James Strickland.

Both the old ladies were faithful members of the Baptist church and Christians of sterling character. Their loss is greatly mourned.

THE FUNERALS

The funerals of both were held simultaneously at Oak Grove church at noon yesterday. Despite the bad condition of the roads there were many people in attendance.

The service was impressive. Rev. Mr. Whitesides, pastor of Oak Grove church, and the Rev. L. C. Ezell conducted the exercises. Accompanied by the organ the friends and relatives of the deceased sang old-fashioned hymns and listened to prayers and Scripture reading by the ministers.

The bodies were lowered into their graves at the same time, and one benediction was pronounced over both.

Mr. John F. Floyd, the funeral director, said that in 25 years experience he had never run across a coincidence like the death and double funeral of these octogenarian ladies who were neighbors.

Personal.

Mr. Herschel Lee Smith has returned to the city after a visit of two weeks to his old home in Georgia.
